

BCNY ANNUAL MEETING – BREAKOUT SESSIONS' DESCRIPTIONS

Backpack Loaded-Up! Planning to go on a mission trip soon? This workshop will help you to “load your back pack” with anything you might need for a short-term mission trip. (Cathy Meyer)

Battle-Ready This workshop uses Ephesians 6:10-17 to train ladies on the use of the armor of God in preparation for “life’s battles.” (Cathy Charles)

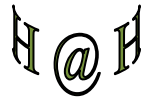

Breaking the “All About Me” Culture in Student Ministry “Whoever wants to be first, must be servants of all”... I’m pretty sure this wouldn’t be a very popular concept or idea in today’s culture. How do we disciple our students to become givers and servants while breaking the selfish/taker mentality? (Jonathan Santiago)

Do You Have What It Takes to Coach Church Planters?

You may not consider yourself a coaching leader who could actually support a church planter or church planting intern but you’re probably more than qualified. We’ll talk about the opportunity for you to grow and impact the Kingdom powerfully as you interact with a planter through a coaching relationship. (Sean Pierce)

Heroes at Home

At New Hope Baptist Church, Heroes at Home is a ministry where the military family can mature in their walk with the Savior and develop Christian friendships along the way. This breakout provides training for those who are interested in an outreach ministry to military families. (Judy West)

Experience what could be the most interesting and unusual (& depressing) workshop you have ever attended! (Steve Sallis)

Ranger Up, Girls!

This workshop will consider the qualities of a soldier that can be applied to the role of a ministry wife. (Kathy Aubrey)

Tend The Soil In Your Pot: Simple Steps Toward Mission Multiplication

Participants will receive tools for developing interns and other potential leaders for the purpose of engaging unreached communities. (Tim Bissell)

When long-time members recall the 1st contact with their church, it often involves one or several people who showed extraordinary caring and attention to them. Such attention can be intentionalized so that it does not happen accidentally, or is limited to the initiative of a few extroverts in the church. This session provides some basic insights on “how to.” (Richard Taylor)

Participants will receive an overview of the TC Process so that leaders of churches can discover hope and encouragement for making disciples and having a healthy church where people are becoming like Christ, churches act like the body of Christ, and the community reflects more like the Kingdom of God. (Gary Jennings)

This workshop will address trust development in a positive and proactive way. You will identify where you are strong in trust building and where you need improvement. You will leave with a frame of reference to analyze future behaviors and develop the kind of trusting relationships that will be sustainable over time. (Tommy Echols)
