*The one who believes in Me, as the Scripture
has said,
will have
streams of living water flow from deep within him.*

John 7:38

From the Convention Executive/Director

For I know the plans that I have for you, declares the Lord, plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.

Jeremiah 29:11

I am rereading a book I read a long time ago, Profiles of Revival Leaders by W. Glyn Evans published by Broadman Press in 1976. This book briefly tells the stories of Jonathan Edwards, Charles G. Finney, Dwight L. Moody, Billy Sunday, and Billy Graham. I believe that we are still waiting for the revival that these great men of God were hoping would come.

It is the time to pray. I believe prayer will be instrumental in seeing a revival in the Northeast and across our nation.

Then Jesus went to all the towns and villages, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the good news of the kingdom, and healing every disease and every sickness. When He saw the crowds, He felt compassion for them, because they were weary and worn out, like sheep without a shepherd. Then He said to His disciples, "The harvest is abundant, but the workers are few. Therefore, pray to the Lord of the harvest to send out workers into His harvest."
Matthew 9:35-38 HCSB

It is the time with special activities. From World Changers, Power Plant, Vacation Bible School, City Uprising, Block Parties, Mission Trips, Construction Crews, to whatever your summer outreach may be, these months are packed with opportunities to tell your community that God loves them and your church does as well. Make a difference!

It is the time of change. As of July 1, 2011, some jointly funded staff (BCNY/NAMB), are now 100% NAMB funded. They are Steve Allen, Tim Bissell, Chris Clayman, Lamar Duke, Taylor Field, and Vijay Kumar Allampalli.

It is the time for the Annual Meeting. On September 25 & 26, the Baptist Convention of New York will meet for business, encouragement, and fellowship. Please plan on attending, we need you there. Our theme, "Called To Active Duty" is fitting not only for the call placed on us to reach our convention territory, but also as we are meeting at New Hope Baptist Church in Watertown, NY, home to the Fort Drum Military Base. Kevin Ezell, President of the North American Mission Board will speak on Sunday night with a Question & Answer time to follow. Registration details and other information is on our website.

All of the activities and changes only point once more to the need for prayer. For God to send a Spiritual Renewal, or another Great Awakening, we must be on our knees asking for His wisdom, His direction, and His grace. The demands of the lostness around us are overwhelming without His help.

Soccer: A Catalyst to Reach Refugees Living in Central New York

Bhim Biswa has been in New York for two years. Originally from Bhutan., Bhim has been in Central New York for two years and is a church planter with Central New York Baptist Association and the Baptist Convention of New York. His church plant, the Syracuse Napali Church has 80 people that worship together. Bellewood Baptist in North Syracuse is the sponsoring church for the Napali church and Tim Bissell, CNYBA/TIBA Church Planting Strategist, has worked with Bhim as well. Pastor Bhim has been the catalyst to begin two other Napali Bhutanese's church plants, one in Rochester, the other in Buffalo.

An evangelist at heart, Bhim's desire is to make Jesus known among all people. The Soccer League, officially known as Syracuse United Soccer Association (SUSA) was his idea. His intent is to reach people in a natural way, while building relationships.

Tim and Bhim have discussed and prepared for this event for over a year but many people have worked to make this happen.

Nine ministries and local organizations are serving together to assist Pastor Bhim. There are eight teams involved: Burmese Chin, Burmese Karin, Sudanese, Napali Bhutanese, Iraqi, Somali, Burundi, and Ghana. Each team has a local representative, met the qualifications to play, has a native language that is not English, consists of both believers and unbelievers, and has a partnering English speaking church to assist in the cost and support.

The American churches that have invested in the teams are Eastern Hills, Crossroads Community, North Central Assembly, Grace Chapel, Missio, and Northside Baptist. Gerrod Speer, who works with SCORE International, is the SUSA director.

The soccer league will be held every Saturday in the months of July and August at Schiller Park in Syracuse.

“This is My Story, This is My Song”

Featuring a personal story from across the BCNY territory

Those who meet me find out fairly quickly that there are essentially three loves in my life. Foremost among them is my God who has redeemed me at the cost of his precious Son, Jesus Christ. I am no longer my own. Having been bought with a great price I am with body and soul, both in life and in death, a willing servant for God’s glory.

I also love my family. My wife of 12 years, Kristin, is an incredible gift from God. She embodies the gentle and quiet spirit that is commended in God’s Word. I am grateful for the grace of God that continually comes to me through her. Moriah (6), Eden (5), Malachi (3), and Ezra (5 months) are the 4 rambunctious little ones that God has gifted to us thus far.

Finally, I love Syracuse. Always have. My life began here. I was born at Crouse Hospital. My dad is a retired Syracuse police officer. I love snow. No, I don’t ski, snowshoe or anything else. I just love lake effect in large quantities. I love Syracuse University. I remember crying uncontrollably in 1987 (I was only 11) after my beloved Orange lost to the Hoosiers in the NCAA championship game.

My family moved from Syracuse during my childhood but I was intent, as intent as a kid can be, that someday I would return to the snow and the region that I love. I ended up marrying a very sweet little lady from Syracuse. In 2006 we felt privileged to move back to Syracuse with our two young daughters even though no job awaited me. We simply felt like we needed to be a part of something God wanted to do in this great city. We wanted to live in the place we loved.

For over 2 years I worked odd jobs until God presented the opportunity to be a part of the planting of Missio Church in 2008. Our desire in this endeavor has been to glorify God both through the equipping of His people to walk faithfully with him and through giving every man, woman, and child the opportunity to hear and respond to the Gospel without them having to come or go anywhere. Missio certainly was planted for the north side of the city but this has not and will never be just about planting a congregation or even congregations. The mission is about reaching a city and region with the life transforming Gospel. No one congregation, no matter how large or influential, can have the capacity to reach the entire city or region. With that in mind we knew that partnering with existing congregations and planting new ones was essential. We have been building relationships around the county with congregations that stand on the Gospel. We have also been praying, planning, and working towards being a part of planting new congregations in the Syracuse area. In the midst of our planning, the prospect of giving leadership to University Baptist Church on Syracuse University presented itself. Certainly this fit with the mission of reaching our city and it was something that immediately ignited passion. To be honest, few things could be more exciting for me.

SU graduates leaders in the areas of public policy and media that shape culture across our globe. Likewise, it shapes life for Central New York and will continue to do so long into the future. For these reasons it is so crucial that the Gospel be present and accessible on campus. Every dorm, every apartment building, every academic discipline needs to have Gospel representation. This will not happen accidentally. I believe it is the responsibility of the people of God on campus to intentionally and strategically give every student, every faculty member, and every staff member an opportunity to hear the Gospel without them coming or going anywhere. It is my desire to serve God’s people by proclaiming God’s glory, championing His truth, demonstrating his love, and calling the Church to His mission. I look forward with great excitement to being a part of what God has already begun through UBC and Baptist Campus Ministry.

I’m sure people could offer 100+ reasons why some other area might be a better place to live, serve, and raise a family but I just can’t see it. Despite the clouds, the economy, and the spiritual landscape this is home. I love the people and the way of life in Central New York. As long as He wills, I plan on serving the God I love with the family I love in this great city I love.

News Across the Convention Territory

Pastor Sam Simpson has retired.

Pastor Sam and his wife Lola have served together for over 40 years. They have been involved in the start of the two churches, Bronx Baptist Church and Wake Eden Baptist Church, as well as several others.

Dr. Simpson also served as president of the Baptist Convention of New York from 1987-88 and 1995-96. Often one can hear him repeat the Simpson motto: "God is good. It is good to be good. It is good to do good."

Frontier Baptist Association has been instrumental in providing theological education for the Burmese people in Buffalo. The intent is to train church planters and leaders for Burmese churches throughout the region and the United States. Pastor Bill Smith from North Buffalo Community Church in Buffalo teaches at the Burmese Bible School.

Burmese refugees are entering the country from the refugee camps on the Thai border. They have been subjected to persecution and forced labor in their home country. Many have a Christian, even Baptist, background. Also, many are Buddhist in belief. The hope is that this training will provide for both existing Christians and for the evangelization of those yet unreached.

Taylor & Susan Field celebrate their 25th anniversary with East 7th Street Baptist Church and the Graffiti Ministries.

A note from Mike & Vickie McQuitty

Vicki and I have been so blessed to serve as your collegiate missionaries in the Syracuse area for the past 14 years. We are so thankful for the fruit God has produced, the friendships we've developed, and the support that you all have given us. This year, Vicki completed her Ph.D. at Syracuse University and accepted a faculty position at Towson University in Maryland. So, we are relocating to the Baltimore area this summer, where I hope to assist the Maryland/Delaware convention with their college ministries.

Serving Him with you,
Michael & Vicki McQuitty

Bellewood Baptist Church is rebuilding after fire destroyed their building. On Friday, July 18, over 80 people, preschoolers through senior adults from First Baptist in Bamwell, SC arrived in North Syracuse for their annual construction trip. This was their tenth year to build, but the first time to build outside of the Southeast. Tim Keller & Bill Barker of Appalachian Region Ministry (NAMB) put them in touch with Bellewood. When they arrived, a floor system was in place. The team studded all the walls, put plywood on exterior walls, set most of the trusses, and decked about 25% of the roof.

In addition to the building of the church, team members also went door-to-door to about 450 homes, discovering 12 – 15 viable prospects for Bellewood. They shared the gospel with several people, distributed New Testaments, tracks and information about the church, and purchased and gave away one Bible.

The team slept, ate and worshipped at Northside Baptist Church, Liverpool. STS Trailers provided a refrigerated trailer for the team to use. BCNY Disaster Relief loaned them the feeding unit to prepare meals and North Area YMCA graciously issued free passes to the team to work out, swim, shower.

This is just one of the many teams who have come to the BCNY territory to assist in ministry and buildings. We are grateful for all!

While the World Changers were serving in Buffalo, NY, the Frontier Baptist Association held a Buffalo Bash! There were 1,300 people in attendance with 8 professions of faith reported. The 370 World Changers served in 30 work sites.

This summer, theWell will have a work team from Mississippi to hold a sports camp and to assist with North Buffalo Community Church, and a team from Georgia will work on the church building and roof at First Timothy Baptist Church. God is doing great things in Western New York.

Southern Baptist Convention

Phoenix, Arizona June 14-15, 2011

A GREAT COMMISSION PEOPLE with a GREAT COMMANDMENT HEART

WRAP-UP: SBC meeting spotlights diversity, unity, unengaged Thursday, Jun 16 By Michael Foust, associate editor of Baptist Press, with reporting by Mickey Noah, Barbara Denman and Mark Kelly.

PHOENIX (BP)--Southern Baptist Convention messengers meeting in Phoenix June 14-15 adopted an historic report encouraging ethnic diversity, witnessed dozens of leaders standing together in support of a landmark unity pledge, and saw hundreds of pastors and lay people volunteer to lead their churches to embrace one of the world's 3,800 unengaged people groups.

It was the lowest-attended annual meeting in 67 years, with just over 4,800 in attendance, but the substance of the meeting led plenty who attended to argue it shouldn't be judged on numbers. "I do believe it could prove to be the most spiritually significant convention over the last 50 years," Southern Baptist Convention President Bryant Wright, who was re-elected to another one-year term, told Baptist Press after the Phoenix gathering. Wright pointed to the sluggish economy and to the travel time from most SBC churches as possible reasons for the low attendance.

From beginning to end, messengers heard Biblical pleas for Southern Baptists to join the church planting movement in North America and to adopt an unengaged people group around the world. And messengers responded. More than 1,000 pastors and their wives packed a North American Mission Board luncheon to learn about the entity's new Send North America church planting strategy. On the final night of the convention, hundreds of messengers flooded the front of the convention hall at the end of the International Mission Board report, having signed cards pledging to lead their church to embrace an unengaged people group. An IMB representative will contact them later.

Each mission board report also featured a commissioning service, with Southern Baptists meeting their newest missionaries.

"Coming back to the authority of Scripture was a correcting point that had to take place [in the SBC], but the mission is to fulfill the Great Commission," Wright said. "I think this was the most unified convention around the Great Commission that I have experienced. People came here with anticipation of that unity."

Wright practiced that unity during his press conference, inviting the presidents of NAMB, Kevin Ezell, IMB, Tom Elliff, and the Executive Committee, Frank Page, to sit on the platform with him and participate. It was the first convention as president for all four men, and each one had a unique emphasis during his respective report to messengers. Ezell highlighted church planting and Elliff emphasized the unengaged, while Page introduced an "Affirmation of Unity and Cooperation" pledge that was signed by entity leaders, state executives and ethnic fellowship leaders. The document had five core points, with the heart of it a pledge to "walk in unity as brothers and sisters in Christ." During the Executive Committee report, the leaders stood on stage together. "Our convention is fracturing into various groups, some theological, most methodological," Page told messengers. "Sometimes there is an honest difference of opinion, but often there is self-centeredness that frequently mirrors our own culture. "Christ-like selflessness is our only hope," Page said. Page also urged Southern Baptists to take the "1 Percent Challenge" -- leading their church to increase gifts to the Cooperative Program by 1 percent-of-budget point. Doing so would lead to $100 million more for Southern Baptist ministries and worldwide missions, including funding for 380 more IMB missionaries, Page said.

The Executive Committee's landmark report on ethnic diversity was the focus of national media attention, as was the election of New Orleans pastor Fred Luter to first vice president. He is the first African American to hold that post. The report's language encourages the SBC president, when he makes his various appointments, to "give special attention to appointing individuals who represent the diversity within the Convention, and particularly ethnic diversity." It also encourages the committee in charge of the annual meeting to reflect the ethnic diversity of the convention in the meeting program. A motion that would have struck the ethnic diversity language was defeated by a margin of 3-to-1. The Executive Committee report, delivered after a two-year study, cites the "need to be proactive and intentional in the inclusion of individuals from all ethnical and racial identities within Southern Baptist life."

During a press conference, messenger Paul Kim, who made the 2009 motion that led to the report, urged ethnic Southern Baptists to get more involved in the convention in this "history-making moment," saying, "This is the time." Ethnic diversity, Wright told BP, is "vitally important to the future of the church in America. We have not reflected what is happening in America in both the makeup of our churches but especially in the leadership in our convention," Wright said.

The convention's resolutions -- which express the sentiment on often hot-button theological and cultural issues -- once again made news. In a surprising move in the convention's final session, messengers overruled the Resolutions Committee by at least a 2-to-1 margin and voted to consider a resolution -- promoted by messenger Tim Overton -- highly critical of the NIV 2011 Bible translation. The resolution passed nearly unanimously. The resolution's text says that because of "inaccurate gender language," messengers "cannot commend the 2011 NIV to Southern Baptists or the larger Christian community." It "respectfully request[s] that LifeWay" not sell the new NIV in its retail chain.

Messengers also passed resolutions:
-supporting the Defense of Marriage Act.

-affirming the historical, biblical concept of hell in a resolution that mentions Rob Bell's "Love Wins" book.

-condemning the actions of those who protest funerals, burn the Koran, and pray for the deaths of public officials.

But a resolution on immigration and the Gospel, coming at a convention partially focused on ethnic issues, had the most floor debate. By a 4-to-1 margin, messengers adopted the resolution, which includes key language asking "our governing authorities to implement, with the borders secured, a just and compassionate path to legal status, with appropriate restitutionary measures, for those undocumented immigrants already living in our country." That sentence was nearly struck but survived on a ballot vote, 51-48 percent. The resolution gained more support when the Resolutions Committee proposed adding a sentence that says the resolution "is not to be construed as support for amnesty for any undocumented immigrant." Mostly overlooked in the controversy was the rest of the 22-paragraph resolution, which calls on churches to take the Gospel to all people, "regardless of country of origin or immigration status."

The main focus of the convention was on fulfilling the Great Commission -- both in North America and around the world. "With less than 4 percent of our [Southern Baptist] churches directly engaged in church planting, we've got to do better," Ezell said at the NAMB luncheon. "We must do better. We are going to do better." Churches -- and not NAMB -- plant churches, Ezell emphasized, adding that over the next couple of years, NAMB will develop church-planting coalitions in 25 urban areas around North America. He said the coalitions will be made up of local pastors, church planters, representatives of local state conventions and associations, along with partnering pastors and state convention leaders from elsewhere. The coalitions will develop local strategies for planting new churches in their area. "It's a new day," Ezell said. "It really is. Pastor, we're not going to make it harder for you. Associations and states, we're not [going to make it harder on you either]. We're going to make it easier. We're going to make it easier for you to engage in missions and to pray and partner. We can do this together." Birmingham, Ala., pastor David Platt preached the convention sermon, quoting statistics on the world's unreached and telling messengers, "This is not a problem for the International Mission Board to address. This is a problem for every pastor and every local church to address."

Other convention speakers -- including several during the Pastors' Conference and Wright himself during his sermon -- made a similar point. Elliff, in his report, spotlighted the need to embrace unengaged people groups, but said, "This convention has been one long sermon.... There is not one thing I could say" that the messengers have not already heard. A lost world, Elliff said, needs churches who consider it unacceptable that there are people groups "who do not have somebody deliberately" trying to engage them with the Gospel. "Really, all there's left for me to do is to give the invitation," Elliff said, moments before hundreds of messengers came forward holding cards that said, "I will lead my church to embrace an unengaged, unreached people group."

The Affirmation of Unity and Cooperation pledge -- signed at the Executive Committee meeting June 13 and presented to messengers the next day -- includes five key "pledges." In summary, they are:

Southern Baptist Convention

1. "We pledge to maintain a relationship of mutual trust
2. "We pledge to attribute the highest motives to those engaged in local church ministries and those engaged in denominational service in any level of Convention life
3. "We pledge to affirm the value of cooperative ministry as the most effective and efficient means of reaching a lost world
4. "We pledge to embrace our brothers and sisters of every ethnicity, race, and language as equal partners in our collective ministries to engage all people groups with the Gospel of Jesus Christ.
5. "We pledge to continue to honor and affirm proportional giving through the Cooperative Program as the most effective means of mobilizing our churches and extending our outreach as Southern Baptists"

In other matters:

-- More than 1,100 Arizonans made professions for Christ during the pre-convention Crossover 2011 evangelistic effort.

-- Paul Thompson, one of the 10 Baptists held in a Haiti jail in 2010, appeared before messengers during the Executive Committee report, telling them, "I have never been so proud to be a Southern Baptist as I was in the 19 days in a lonely but yet God-filled prison cell in Haiti."

- Ezell promised that, under his watch, future financial stewardship at NAMB will demand "accuracy, transparency, effectiveness and efficiency - not smoke and mirrors." He then clarified and put into perspective some oft-quoted NAMB statistics -- for instance, that Southern Baptists planted 769 new churches in 2010, not the 1,400 to 1,500 a year usually reported in the past.

-- Wright, pastor of the Atlanta-area Johnson Ferry Baptist Church, was re-elected president over Wiley Drake, pastor of First Southern Baptist Church in Buena Park, Calif., who nominated himself. The vote was 2,274 (95 percent) to 102 (4 percent). Luter, senior pastor of Franklin Avenue Baptist Church in New Orleans, was elected first vice president over Rick Ong, a member of First Chinese Baptist Church in Phoenix. Luter received 1,558 (77 percent) votes to Ong's 441 (22 percent). In three elections without opposition: Eric Thomas, senior pastor of First Baptist Church in Norfolk, Va., was elected second vice president; John Yeats, director of communications for the Louisiana Baptist Convention, was re-elected recording secretary; and Jim Wells, director of missions for the Tri-County Baptist Association in Nixa, Mo., was re-elected registration secretary.

There were no night sessions. Next year's meeting will be June 19-20 in New Orleans.

Ezell: new NAMB, new day for church planting

Wednesday, Jun 15, 2011 By Mickey Noah, North American Mission Board.

PHOENIX (BP)--Missionaries and chaplains, a U.S. Army general, a barber, two tornado victims and a redeemed young man mirrored the work of the North American Mission Board during its report to messengers June 14 at the 2011 SBC annual meeting. "Knowing there are 318 million people in North America who need to know Jesus Christ stirs our passion as trustees," NAMB trustee chairman Tim Dowdy, senior pastor of Eagles Landing First Baptist Church in McDonough, Ga., told the messengers. "Last year, God led us to the right man, Kevin Ezell. We're starting down the right road. I can't wait to see what God does with us, together impacting the world for Jesus Christ."

Ezell told messengers the months since his election have been very challenging. "I have learned a lot in the nine months since I accepted this role, and I appreciate your patience and prayers," Ezell said. "I hope to clearly communicate our direction in the midst of a very complex transition ... I am striving to bring a sense of strategic focus and efficiency to our North American missions."

After thanking Southern Baptists for their support of the Cooperative Program and the Annie Armstrong

Easter Offering, Ezell noted: "Biblical stewardship calls us to the highest level of accountability with these funds. I am doing everything in my power to spend each dime wisely. We must put more missionaries and more new churches in North America's least-reached areas."

Ezell then outlined how NAMB's mission board's staff has been reduced by 38 percent through retirement and separation incentives, saving the mission board $6 million a year. He said the budget has been cut another $8 million, including slashing the travel budget by half. "These savings will go to place more churches and more church planting missionaries where they are needed most in North America," Ezell said. "I believe you cannot judge the effectiveness of an organization by the size of its staff, but NAMB is not taking one step backwards. We intend to do more with less infrastructure."

SEND NORTH AMERICA The new "big picture strategy" for church planting, called Send North America, will enable Baptists to penetrate lostness through a regional mobilization strategy. Ezell said, "Already, 80 percent of NAMB's resources are invested through the state conventions to go to underserved areas -- even before Send North America. But this strategy will send even more in that direction."

The GPS -- God's Plan for Sharing -- initiative will continue to be one of the entity's top priorities under NAMB's new vice president for evangelism, Larry Wynn, Ezell said. Ezell promised that, under his watch, future financial stewardship at NAMB will demand "accuracy, transparency, effectiveness and efficiency -- not smoke and mirrors." He then clarified and put into perspective some oft-quoted NAMB statistics -- for instance, that Southern Baptists planted 769 new churches in 2010, not the 1,400 to 1,500 a year usually reported in the past.

"When the old NAMB counted church plants, they didn't ask for church names or addresses or planter names. The new NAMB is asking and only counting churches for which those details can be obtained," Ezell said. "The old NAMB had no system for consistently tracking new church plants across the 42 state conventions. We are working with the states on such a system. Also, the old NAMB had no definition of a church plant agreed upon by all of our state convention partners," Ezell added. "The new NAMB is working on that with state partners, to write a definition we all can adhere to." Ezell generated laughs and applause when he said, "If Walmart can track how much toilet paper it sells every hour, we should be able to track how many churches are planted each year."

The mission entity president also spoke to the question of how many missionaries NAMB has. "It's been said that NAMB has more than 5,100 missionaries serving in North America," Ezell said. He said 3,480 of NAMB's missionaries are jointly funded with the states; 1,839 are spouses, some with ministry assignments and some not; 1,616 are Mission Service Corps missionaries who receive no funding from NAMB; and 38 are national missionaries, who are paid 100 percent by NAMB. In addition, NAMB has 3,400 chaplains -- 1,350 of them military chaplains -- and 955 summer student missionaries on its rolls.

For the first time in several years, NAMB used the annual meeting to introduce and commission 20 new missionaries, chaplains and their spouses who will serve in 11 different locations throughout North America.

UNREACHED CANADA Jeff Christopherson, NAMB's vice president for Canada, and Jason McGibbon, a church planting missionary in Toronto, and told messengers how unreached Canada is.

"Canada is one of the most unreached areas in North America, with only one church for every 121,000 people," the Canadian-born Christopherson said. "You drive through Toronto, Montreal or Vancouver, and you see a sea of houses but not one evangelical church. That's just not right."

Ezell ended the presentation by challenging individuals and churches to participate in the entity's Send North America Strategy. For more information, visit namb.net and click the "Mobilize Me" button.
